The crag of Muro dei Folletti ("Wall of the Goblins") offers beautiful routes of overhangings and pipes, but there are also the easiest pitches on the left side of the sector.

Avvicinamento: From Iglesias take the SS 126 until km 54.100 to Fluminimaggiore follow a small road on the right that with a distance of about 1.5 km leads to the archaeological site of the temple of Antas. From here, take the dirt road. When you arrive at a T-junction turn left towards Arenas. Going straight, after some ups and downs, you see the crag of Punta Pilocca on the left, locate a sign indicating Punta Pilocca hanging from a tree. Continue by car to the flat where you can see the remains of the mines, then take the first road on the left that rises quickly and makes a bend to the left, short straight and when the road bends to the right you can park close at the curve. Find a trail that goes into the woods (stone cairns) and you will soon reach the first pitches of the crag Amante Stregata del CAI. Turn left under the crag until you reach a cave, hence using the strings you pass a boulder to exit from the opposite side, descend briefly and you follow the path that quickly leads to the the crag. It can also take a more direct path by parking just after the sign of Punta Pilocca and follow a canal that leads directly to the Muro dei Folletti, sometimes there are stone cairns.
